Samy Moussa composes in orchestral space like a painter varying the structure of the canvas by changing brush strokes and intensity of colour, meshing lines and blocks of sound to create sonic clarity and recognizability. Vivier's extraordinary melody in Zipangu is continuously transformed through imaginative changes of string colours and blurred harmonic textures to produce a transcendental experience. No Longer Than Ten (10) Minutes reveals Schafer's marvelous sense of humour through a masterful composition – a tongue-in-cheek comment on the resistance to new compositions considered too long for anyone's good. Schnittke's powerful response to a lifetime of dynamic social and political forces in Soviet Russia abounds in musical influences and references conveyed through the intense virtuosity demanded of the soloist and orchestra.
